

Nine measurements, but only six are independent

RECIPROCITY

A component with no power supply passes a signal equally well in either direction.

So the shaded cells are copies of the white ones directly opposite them. This holds in your data to eleven decimal places.

The model predicts 6 numbers.
The other 3 are copied for free.